

“I love Innovation”

Andopack is a growing Spanish company, founded in 2002 by a family of entrepreneurs, all coming from various sectors associated with the packaging industry. In only eight years, we have reached production levels equivalent to 55 million square metres of cardboard, or a turnover of 33 million Euros.

Our products are mainly aimed at food-processing companies (60%) and manufacturing industries (30%). The immediate aim of Andopack is to increase turnover so as to achieve a productivity of over 80 million square metres per year. In this way we would become one of the top ten in the sector in the Spanish market.

Our outstanding results up until now, achieved in record time, are due to our strategic positioning (in the heart of the industrial district in North-East Spain) and also thanks to our organisation's commitment to investing in innovation.

In 2008, this commitment led us to entrust our ICT to RTS. We had come to the conclusion that our rapid growth could only be sustained by following the leading ICT systems. We chose RTS after a thorough search in both Europe and the USA, in which we evaluated the most internationally reputed software companies.

We chose RTS because of the quality of its IT solutions and because of its solid experience in our particular sector. Over the last few years, RTS has developed a complete framework for us, covering all our business processes, from production control to managing shop assistants, from assembly areas to logistics. So what's our next step forward? We'd like to further enrich our system by using RTS solutions for Business Intelligence.
